DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 1, 4, 6, 8, 9, 10, 11, 17, 18-21 (renumbered as claims 1-12) are allowed.
2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance.

Prior art of record fails to teach or fairly suggest a system and method for a wireless communications network to automatically suggest subscriber service changes comprising: compiling a record of services used by the subscriber during a time period; determining a subscriber usage metric for the time period, wherein the subscriber usage metric includes the number incoming calls received by the subscriber while the subscriber is already using the phone; comparing the subscriber usage metric to a threshold, the threshold being a new feature threshold; detecting a trigger condition including the subscriber usage metric exceeding the threshold; generating a service change suggestion capable of eliminating the trigger condition, wherein the service change is a new feature not subscribed to by the subscriber; and informing the subscriber of the service change suggestion via the wireless communications network as recited in each independent claim (i.e. claims 1, 17 and 18) and depicted in figure 2.

Prior art of record (6,606,377) Ruckart et al generally teaches comparing subscriber use metric to a threshold and the usage pattern is compared to different calling plans to offer subscribers a full range of choices (i.e. notify subscriber's of alternative calling plans).

Prior art of record (7,167,699) Kretsinger generally teaches comparing subscriber use metric to threshold so the subscriber can be notified before overage charges occur (see claim 1).

Prior art of record (7,280,818) Clayton generally teaches notifies mobile unit of an indication that usage minutes has exceeded a threshold and offers the mobile an alternative subscription offer having a second arrangement of minutes (see claim 1).

However, the prior art of record does not strictly limit the alternative subscription offers to be a "new feature" that is strictly limited to "call waiting" as defined in Applicants specification (see Pub. No.: US 2005/0105467 paragraph 0036 which defines Applicants figure 2 corresponding to independent claims 1, 17 and 18).

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
